

Barnes Seminar on Teaching

May 21-23, 2018

The Incarnation Center

In Ivoryton, Connecticut

Purpose: To talk about learning and teaching with colleagues in a focused, relaxed, and positive atmosphere. To discuss what works with our students, in our classes and labs, in our colleges, and with the resources at our disposal.

Structure: Participants are the experts at Barnes. We each bring a one-page description of some idea about teaching to share with small groups of peers. We also each bring a teaching/learning "problem" we are currently facing. Again, these "problems" are shared in small groups, where peers discuss possible solutions. Later, there are other structured discussions on issues participants choose. There will not be outside experts, lectures, critiques, or complaining about politics or "the administration." There will be lots of time for reflection and discussion, plenty of fun, and time to reconnect with why you decided to go into our profession.

Cost: Free to staff and faculty in the Community College System.
Room (single rooms) and board provided.

Registration: Quinebaug Valley has at least 2 spaces. If you are interested in attending, please fill out this form electronically and email it by March 16th to your Teaching and Learning Consultant Jakob Spjut. You will receive extensive information about the seminar upon confirmation of your reservation by the Center for Teaching. Information will be sent by email.
