Business Administration, B.S. Nichols College '19

My name is Devon Harris and I am a resident of Killingly, Connecticut. I was born and raised in the town I currently reside and attended the Killingly Public School system as a child. After graduating high school, I made the decision to pursue an associate degree at Quinebaug Valley Community College. After two years of study, I completed my Associate of Science in Business Administration and continued my path at Nichols College. While attending Nichols, I studied finance and in 2019 completed my Bachelor of Science in Business Administration. Shortly before graduating, I accepted a position as a financial advisor at Barnum Financial Group. Upon finalizing my academic career, I pursued my business full-time and still do to this day.

Outside of my academic and professional work, I enjoy engaging in sports, expanding my knowledge through reading, and traveling the world at the extent that money and time will allow. Although I am no longer involved as a student at QVCC, I still remain an active member of the college's community. I hold a leadership position on the QVCC Alumni Committee and regularly volunteer for QVCC Foundation events year-round.
